

Square Roots • Session II • March-June 2017

Focus:

Level I: "Tell the Story"

Students will focus on effective story telling in both monologues and song.

Ella Wyatt, Director.

Level II: "Parody Schmarody"

Students will explore the fun and function of writing entertaining and legal parody lyrics under the direction of "Lagunatics" and "LagunaTots" creator/writer, Bree Burgess Rosen. Finished songs will be presented in the June showcase. Some of the parodies will be included in "LagunaTots" next season, giving those writers a chance to see their work presented before the public, receiving contributing writer credits, access to rehearsals of their material, and complimentary tickets for them and their immediate family to the opening night performance.

Bree Burgess Rosen, Director.

A fun-filled experience for young people who love to create and learn in a positive and nurturing environment. A 13-week tuition-based program for young performers, age 6-18. Limited to 30 participants per Level. Square Roots programs culminate in a showcase performance by students for their families and fans. Open to all levels – beginning, intermediate, and advanced, and split by maturity, subject to director approval.

Mondays, beginning March 20

4:00-5:15 PM

(No class April 17, and in observance of Memorial Day, the Monday May 29 class will move to Friday, June 2)
